been pending here, and which is about to become a law, does not reflect the sentiment of the people of the United States. No Republican wanted it, no Republican wanted it, no Republican wanted it. The great mass of the people condemn it. Coming down to the question of elections, the Texas Senator made a confession that the editor of the World took home to himself the profits of the bill. Mr. Miller declared that the average man of the people in a tariff bill was a criterion of the measure. Every one knows that the percentages paid to Democratic newspapers is merely a device to mislead the people and distract attention from the humiliating position of the party, which by the testimony of the President has been guilty of a perfidy and dishonor.

The Sugar Tax.
The Boston Record says: Bureau show is the Senate sugar schedule to the people, said Chairman Wilson on Monday in his final oration on the bill bearing his name. The McKinley schedule was worse. Under the McKinley schedule the Boston Record says the Sugar Trust has enjoyed a protection of 60 cents per 100 pounds, under the new tariff it will have a protection of 12 1/2 cents per 100 pounds.

It is true that the McKinley act gave the Sugar Trust a protection of 10 cents per 100 pounds, on sugar from countries paying no export bounty. There was no secret about this duty, nor any scandal. The McKinley act was a protective measure, and it protected sugar refining as it protected other industries. But to put on the free list sugar up to the grade of No. 10 Dutch standard is a grade of sugar so good that the possibility of its extended use prevented the Sugar Trust from demanding a cent on duty. It is under the new bill, that is to say, a check upon the exactions of the trust.

But what may come of this? Mr. Wilson has said by saying that the McKinley schedule was "more burdensome to the people than the schedule in the new bill." Does he suppose that the American people do not know the difference between cheap sugar and dear sugar? Only so short a time ago as the 10th of July, Chairman Wilson, on the floor of the House, admitted that the people under the McKinley law "had tasted untaxed sugar," and it was there, more difficult to get back to looking it. Does he now maintain that untaxed sugar is more burdensome than taxed sugar? And if not, precisely what does he mean?

Sugar has already been moved up two notches by the trust, because of the passage of the new bill. It was advanced one-eighth of a cent last week and another eighth of a cent this week. After the House vote of 220 to 191, the trust moved it up another eighth of a cent. The McKinley schedule took effect, reduced sugar sold at 4 1/2 cents per 100 pounds to 4 1/4 cents per 100 pounds. The new schedule, which took effect on Monday, reduced it to 4 1/8 cents per 100 pounds. The McKinley schedule took effect on Monday, reduced it to 4 1/8 cents per 100 pounds. The new schedule, which took effect on Monday, reduced it to 4 1/8 cents per 100 pounds.

We challenge the Record to print the following figures for the benefit of its readers: On May 1, 1904, refined sugar sold at 6 cents per pound. May 1, 1904, one month after the McKinley schedule took effect, refined sugar sold at 4 1/2 cents per pound. May 1, 1904, one month after the new schedule took effect, refined sugar sold at 4 1/8 cents per pound. The McKinley schedule took effect on Monday, reduced it to 4 1/8 cents per 100 pounds. The new schedule, which took effect on Monday, reduced it to 4 1/8 cents per 100 pounds.

Herbert A. Junken
A Washington dispatch to the New York Times under date of the 10th, says: Secretary Herbert, accompanied by members of his family, his naval aide and other officials of the Navy, is expected to leave Washington tomorrow for the Dolphin for a cruise along the New England coast, the ostensible object of the voyage being an official inspection of the Navy Yard at New London, Boston and Portsmouth. In order that the vision of the Secretary of the Navy may not be obscured during his official voyage, a supply of specially prepared color has been laid in which is expected to make steam without producing smoke. Of course this preparation is absolutely necessary and the emergency pressing or it would not be made at a time when the Secretary of the Treasury are dragged so low that it is next to impossible for the Government to meet its ordinary current expenses and when the Navy is short of money to pay for necessary repairs and supplies on account of vessels in active service. And yet it does seem to be almost a pity to put the Government to an expense of about $400 a day in order to inspect these three navy yards in which no work is being done.

In this relation it may not be impertinent to remark that the Dolphin has not been paid in full by the Government. The executors of John P. Morgan have applied for the payment of the balance due his estate, said the Secretary of the Navy has refused to settle. It is asserted that of the $90,000 retained by the Secretary of the Navy on the contract of the Dolphin not one dollar has been expended to add to the structural strength, which one of Secretary Whitney's boards some years ago declared to be inadequate. At any rate the claim is pending and the executors of the Morgan estate have been unable to obtain any settlement that, but, however, will not be likely to detract from the enjoyment of the Secretary of the Navy, who certainly needs rest and recreation after his arduous and successful efforts to avert a Democratic shipwreck in Alabama.

Abundant Material.
What are the Republicans on the campaign in this State in the campaign in going to talk about?"
It is hardly worth while for our contemporary to borrow any trouble in advance in this case. Before the campaign is ended it will appreciate the fact that the only difficulty with which the Republicans will have to contend is the burden of material at hand. If they were to take as a topic the incompetency of the Democratic party, as admitted by Democratic themselves, and talk upon it until the close of the campaign, they would not be able to exhaust the subject. It is amusing to find the Argus whistling against the wind when President Cleveland, the man it eulogized as the greatest statesman of the country, his aid of the very campaign in which the party is now plying its trade.

"How can we face the people after indulging in such outrageous insinuations and violation of principle?"
That extract would form the text of a rattling campaign speech on the Republican stump, and it is necessary it could be supplemented by the following choice description of the Democratic party as it stands in history to-day from the same author.

"Our abandonment of the cause or the principles upon which it rests, means party perdition and party dissolution."
There is no lack of Republican ammunition in this campaign, and it is certain that no Republican can say more severe things concerning the dishonesty and incompetency of the Democratic party than is contained in President Cleveland's letter.

The Percentage Dodge.
The New York World which has been blowing and blowing in the tariff discussion, at one time denouncing the Senate bill as the work of the Sugar Trust and at another seeking to defend the House surrender, now adopts the old idea of talking percentages with the idea of deceiving the people. (Senator Miller) who has the reputation of being a pronounced tariff reformer, said in the Senate Wednesday: "The bill which has been pending here, and which is about to become a law, does not reflect the sentiment of the people of the United States. No Republican wanted it, no Republican wanted it, no Republican wanted it. The great mass of the people condemn it. Coming down to the question of elections, the Texas Senator made a confession that the editor of the World took home to himself the profits of the bill. Mr. Miller declared that the average man of the people in a tariff bill was a criterion of the measure. Every one knows that the percentages paid to Democratic newspapers is merely a device to mislead the people and distract attention from the humiliating position of the party, which by the testimony of the President has been guilty of a perfidy and dishonor.

Plaisant did not go to St. John and Moncton with the Bangor picked nine but we notice some one has been using his name.

Mr. W. H. Jenkins, chairman of the Dexter board of selectmen, was in the city yesterday. He informs us that the statement in this Whig's Dexter correspondence to the effect that the owner of the store, which it is claimed extends over the public highway, is untrue for a number of years past.

The result was beyond all expectation. Many letters were received exclusively intimate relations, if not co-operation, of Berlin and Paris anarchists.

These were seized and arrested. The police search was very thorough and many were found in the rooms of the "vicious named Ward."

The police search will be continued and was fully appreciated by the hearers.

AMUSEMENTS.

Opening of the Dramatic Season at the Opera House.

The season of 1894-95 at the Opera House will be opened to-night with the presentation of the familiar yet always welcome "Old Jed" farce.

The play is well known that no comment is necessary and the company is said to be a strong one with well chosen people for the different roles.

It is characteristic of "Old Jed" farce that young and old enjoy the performance, applaud the performers, indulge in a good old-fashioned laugh, or good old-fashioned cry, or in the still greater luxury of both, and, as the curtain falls on the final act, depart from the house in a pleasant frame of mind.

An amateur, Richard Golden is said to display more skill than either Demma Thompson or the late John E. Owens.

He has, however, a very young man, he makes and plays the part of a shrewd and kindly old Yankee farmer, keeper to the life, while Thompson and Owens were much like the characters they personated, even when not on the stage.

James B. Mackie in "The Slide Show."

Next Monday night the attraction at the Opera House will be "The Slide Show," or "What for the Wagon," an amusing and clever comedy in which James B. Mackie, better known as "Grimsby, McBoy," will appear this coming season.

It is from the pen of George C. Jenks, of Pittsburgh, and deals with life as it exists in the small town or annex to the circus.

Mr. Mackie has surrounded himself with an exceptionally strong company of artists, it is said, and "The Slide Show" is promised as good for an evening of fun.

"The George Magner." Aunt Abbott, who is to appear at the Opera House next week Tuesday and Wednesday, is possessed of a peculiar quality that has never been revealed in any other person.

It is said, that of being able to lift great weights without muscular exertion; of being able to resist the force of five or six men who strive to force her over a brown line; and more, without holding an object, but simply placing the tips of her fingers upon it, to attract it that no human power can take it away.

Several well known Bangor doctors have been invited to be present and investigate the strange phenomena. The sale of seats begins at the box office this morning.

Camp Benson Notes.

Our correspondent writes: Thursday, Ladies' Day, was as to weather, clear and cool, the terrible thunder storm of Wednesday night having cleared off all of the clouds.

Large delegations from every direction came in on all of the early trains.

Mrs. Mason, of Biddeford, Department President, and Mrs. Small, of Lewiston, Past Department President, were here early.

A private meeting at headquarters was the prepared programme, but the number was so great, the pavilion was found to be none too large.

Over a hundred tents were present, representing fourteen corps.

The entire ritualistic work of the order was exemplified by Doury Corps, of Dover, the youngest corps in the Department.

The work was finely done and received many words of commendation from the Department officers.

Mrs. Small and Mrs. Mason made encouraging remarks. The meeting was a success in every way and it is hoped is but the first of an established exercise for each year hereafter.

Over 6000 the corps were escorted by the band, Grand Army and Sons of Veterans to the hotel, where the corps put up for a first class dinner.

At 2:30 P. M. the crowd filled the pavilion and listened to a musical and literary entertainment. The following was the programme: Opening prayer, Rev. Mr. Hunton; singing by two young ladies of Corinna; recitation by Willie Morse; song by Mrs. Chase, of Bangor; recitation by Miss Floyd Gould; song by Miss Morrow, accompanied by Miss Welch; recitation by Miss Sargent; song by the Corinna Band; Mrs. Mason, Col. Carver, of Rockland, and Mrs. Gallup, of Lewiston, Mass., favored the company with short addresses, which, judging by the quiet attention given them, were fully appreciated.

The entertainment was finished by a recitation by Mrs. Chase.

This lady contributed much to the enjoyment of the occasion, twice responding to the tremendous applause with pleasing selections.

All the acts were well performed, and the crowd showed kindly enough the constant thronging about the platform, the audience would have had no trouble in hearing.

At the close of the entertainment the bicycle race was called, and Miss Merrie Dixon, of Corinna, won the first prize.

Dress parade and the band concert followed.

In the evening the concert company played to a crowded house, and at the dance the hall was crowded to full for comfort.

Ice cream was served at intermission and the dancing went on till an early hour.

Friday, Grand Army Day, Department Commander Gilman and staff officers arrived from Waterville at 10:30 and were escorted by the G. A. R., S. of V., and Band to
